

FORESIGHT

The International Journal of Applied Forecasting

Policy for Article Reprints by Authors

This reprint policy applies to both hardcopy printing and electronic distribution of pdf/e-copies.

- Foresight will provide authors with a pdf of the full published issue in which their content (article, commentary, tutorial, minitutorial, op-ed, book review, etc.) appears.
- From the full issue, authors may extract and share a pdf of the content they authored. Authors are permitted to share only the content they authored – not the full issue.
- Authors may share the pdf of their content with family, friends, and colleagues within their own organization. Authors from academic institutions may also share the pdf of their content with students in courses they are teaching.
- Authors have unlimited use of the pdf of their content for commercial purposes, for example:
  - Share with clients.
  - Post on their personal or their organization's website.
  - Use in marketing materials (such as for white papers, e-books, etc.).
  - Republish in a book or other collection.

For any such use we ask that this statement be included: "This material originally appeared in Foresight, Issue XX (forecasters.org/foresight) and is made available with permission of Foresight and the International Institute of Forecasters."

- Authors may also upload the pdf to public repositories like ResearchGate, or to social media sites such as LinkedIn.

For any such use we ask that this statement be included: "This material originally appeared in Foresight, Issue XX (forecasters.org/foresight) and is made available with permission of Foresight and the International Institute of Forecasters."

Contact the IIF Business Director (email: forecasters@forecasters.org) with any questions.